Choosing a business course today may prove to be the most valuable thing you could do to prepare for your tomorrow. This is your first glance at your chosen career path and it can help you determine whether you really want to be a receptionist or if you want to stretch your boundaries and be an accountant or a computer programmer. Imagine the possibilities!!!

Creating Leaders for Today...

Students who have chosen to enroll in business courses have had many positive experiences over the years. Not only do these courses prepare you for your future, they also equip you to meet the requirements for job opportunities that present themselves during your high school years. Students chosen for such opportunities are not only able to make extra money, they are also able to build upon current skills and acquire new ones needed to compete in an ever-changing world. Secure your future today. Enroll in a business class by seeing a TCHS Business and Computer Science teacher TODAY!!

...and Tomorrow

Come be a part of Future Business Leaders of America, a student based organization that creates leaders and prepares them for careers in business. FBLA provides students with opportunities to compete, meet new friends, network and create life-long, career-changing relationships.

Transforming students into college and career-ready citizens empowered to change the world.
